Crucial Stage in Communism War on Democracies and Churches of All Europe

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The world-wide ideological conflict between communism and democracy, involving a life and death struggle between religion and the Red ism, is intensifying. We have reached a crucial period.

The warfare is particularly tense in central and eastern Europe, where Moscow is striking fiercely at anti-Red elements in an effort to consolidate the Soviet gains. However, the tempo also is swelling rapidly in the western democracies, which finally have admitted that communism isn't susceptible to compromise. The orient is torn with strife in which communism is heavily involved.

The latest drama is being staged in Czechoslovakia. There the Communist government, charging the Catholic church with subversive activities, is striking hard. Catholic informants say the government has seized virtually all church consistory in the country. Many priests reportedly have been arrested. Archbishop Josef Beran is virtually a prisoner in his palace in Prague.

The archbishop has managed to get a message to Czechoslovakia's 9,000,000 Catholics saying that the "hour of trial" may be at hand and that if necessary they "must be prepared to follow the hard path of the christian martyrs." The country's protestant minority is reported preparing to support its traditional antagonist — the Roman Catholic church — in the latter's fight for survival.

The Secretary of State Dean Acheson has denounced the attacks of the Communist-led regime in Czechoslovakia on Archbishop Beran as a violation of the "rights of conscience" and the "decenties of civilization."

The situation in Czechoslovakia is similar to what happened in Hungary, where Cardinal Mindszenty was charged with plotting against the republic. He was tried and condemned to life imprisonment.

The troubles of unhappy Hungary continue. Her Red leader, Matyas Rakosi, a few days ago was stated in Prague that 200,000 Hungarian Communist party members have been expelled in a purge of "spies and provocateurs." Rakosi added that he is waging a "campaign of destruction with an iron hand" against dissidents still in the party.

Other satellite countries are having their religious troubles, including Romania, Bulgaria and Poland. That's not strange in view of Moscow's edict that there shall be no interference with the campaign of anti-religious propaganda against slavia, of course has been placed on Russia's black list for failure to toe the party line.

While all this is going on in the satellite countries, a less sensational but effective house-cleaning is being carried on by the democracies. Communism has lost France, the Netherlands and Belgium in elections in Italy, France, the Netherlands and Belgium. Recently Britain's ruling socialist party, ordered its membership of more than 5,000,000 to purge itself of any fellow traveling with Communists. Fourteen Communist or Communist front groups were blacklisted.

Here in our own United States the ideological problem finally is being ironed out. Attorney General Tom Clark summed up the situation recently in an interview on the Gannett radio stations like this:

"Communists in the United States are on the run, as a threat to government, as an influence in labor, or as a political party. Our records indicate they have become almost one third smaller in number than three years ago." Allen (Communists), he said, "are fleeing the country."

However, while we get his report from America we look across the world at China and see communism sweeping that huge country which houses more than a fifth of the globe's population. The battle is far from finished and this is no time for complacency. The gravity of the position has been pointed out by the United States circuit court of appeal in Washington. In ruling that a congressional committee has the right to demand that a witness say whether he is a Communist, the court declared:

"No one can doubt in these chaotic times that the destiny of all nations hangs in balance in the current ideological struggle between the Communist-thinking and the democratic-thinking peoples of the world."

Contributions to Polio Fund Now Pay Off

A record total of $1,728,000 was raised in the 1949 March of Dimes to continue the fight on polio. It was announced today by chairman of the Hempstead county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The comparable figure for the last year was $21,000,000.

Mr. LaGrossa disclosed results of the 1949 March of Dimes appeal following receipt of a letter from Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation, who expressed his thanks to the American people and the thousands of volunteers throughout the country who made the drive the most outstanding in the organization's history.

Half the sum raised after expenses will be used by national headquarters to support its research, professional education and training programs, and to supplement resources of its local chapters in epidemic emergencies. Chapters retain the other half to pay for care and treatment of polio patients and epidemic aid.

Mr. O'Connor's letter to the local chapter chairman declared that despite the record breaking drive "the need for funds to fight polio still remains extremely critical" because of the unusually severe epidemics experienced in recent years.

"Last year's epidemic, the worst in 32 years, exhausted reserves of the National Foundation," Mr. O'Connor disclosed in his letter. "In the five-year period ended in 1948, the 98,074 cases of infantile paralysis recorded in the nation were more than double the 42,738 cases reported in the preceding five-year period. At the same time per patient costs of hospitalization and medical care also have more than doubled in the last decade."

"The doubled case-load, multiplied by doubled hospitalization costs, has meant a burden in medical care alone for the National Foundation that has increased more than fourfold in recent years. At the same time, research to find a cure or preventive for the disease has been stepped up to the limit of our resources. Now that many hopeful signs are beginning to appear on the research horizon, we cannot relax our effort in this direction."

"With epidemic reserves accumulated by national headquarters from previous years wiped out at the end of 1948, we were enabled to carry on our medical care program only because many of our chapters came to the rescue. These chapters, in areas unaffected by epidemics in recent years, made substantial contributions to the national emergency epidemic aid fund helping us to carry on until receipts from the 1949 March of Dimes started coming in. Total reserve funds of chapters, therefore, have also been depleted appreciably."

"Unfortunately, 1949 incidence figures to date show no sign that any relief from the heavy toll of the disease experienced in recent years is in sight. Besides the heavy burden of care for cases carried over from previous epidemic years, we are again faced with a possible new heavy case-load this summer."

"While it is possible at this time to predict how heavy this year's case-load will be, there is grave doubt that even the record sum raised in the 1949 March of Dimes will prove adequate to carry on our full medical care and research program in the current year."

A little boy was saying his bed-time prayer in a low voice. "I can't hear you, dear," his mother whispered.

"What's wrong to you," said the small one firmly. Baptist Observer

Relative of Hope Residents Hurt in Accident

Forrest City, June 30 —(AP)— A young lawyer-flier walked into the whirling propeller of an airplane at the airfield here late yesterday and was injured seriously.

He is Kenneth Kinard, 33, city attorney of El Dorado, Ark. At Baptist hospital, Memphis, where Kinard was taken, he was reported to have a possible skull fracture. Attendants said he was doing as well as could be expected.

Kinard flew here for his wife and 26-month-old son, who were visiting her parents, William Caviness, El Dorado, who accompanied him, was to return the plane to El Dorado, while Kinard planned to drive back with his wife and child.

Kinard said Kinard, apparently in an absent-minded moment, walked directly into the moving blades immediately after he got out of the plane.

The blades struck him in the face and head, inflicting severe lacerations.

Mr. Kinard is the brother of Lloyd Kinard and Mrs. E. P. Young of Hope.

Girl's Escort Declined to Take Lie Test
Chicago, June 30 —(UP)— Arthur Marino, 27, refused today to take a lie test on his story that two men forced him to drink poison and killed his sweetheart, pretty Joan Coward, 17, in a lover's lane.

Marino's throat was seared by the caustic he claimed the two men forced him to swallow.

Despite the burns in his mouth and throat, Sgt. Walter Rusin said Marino could "talk plainly about some things but becomes incoherent when we ask him important questions."

The Assistant State's Attorney Alex Napoli said Marino's story of the slaying was "highly fantastic."

Miss Coward, one of the most popular girls in suburban Blue Island, was killed by blows that crushed her skull, an autopsy showed. She also had been strangled.

There was a bruise over her right eye, her left ear lobe was torn and finger marks showed on her neck. Her throat showed no sign of the poison however.

She and Marino had been engaged two months and had planned to marry exactly one year from this week.

Marino, wild-eyed and practically nude, burst into a police station early yesterday and motioned the desk sergeant to his car outside.

In the back seat, lay Miss Coward. Her only garment, a thin summer dress, had been pushed up around her shoulders. But she had not been raped, authorities said.

The girl was still alive but died a few minutes later despite the efforts of an inhalator squad to revive her.

Marino told his story, first through notes scribbled to police. Later, as soothing medicines were applied, he managed to tell his strange version of the attack by voice.

The koala of Australia never drink but get enough moisture from young eucalyptus leaves on which he lives.

of the recent convention she attended, at Fort Smith. She club then voted to become a federated club.

Mrs. R. L. Broach of Hope was then introduced and gave a splendid review of Emily Kimbrough's book, "It Gives Me Great Pleasure." The review was enjoyed by everyone.

The hostesses served a sandwich plate with iced drinks to the members and out of town guests including Miss Hattie Tyree of Kansas City.

Coming and Going
Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Milkey, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Putman and daughters, Marjorie and Ramona Williams, B. C. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Miller, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Hickman, Sam Sewell and Mr. and Mrs. Talbot Feldt, Sr. all of Texarkana.

DOROTHY DIX Lonely People

Dear Miss Dix: Why are lonely people lonely? If they are women who are unmarried, they think they are lonely because they are old people, they think it is because their husbands and children don't understand them. If they are rich, they think they are lonely because nothing is worth while. If they are poor people, they think it is because they lack money. If they could only shuffle themselves around in each other's places, would they be less lonely? Why don't the lonely get together and console each other?

A READER
Answer: I think loneliness is a state of mind and not a condition of life and that the lonely would be lonely under any circumstances. They are what the psychologists call anti-social and they lack some how the ability to fraternize with their fellow creatures. They are not as the phrase goes, good mixers. They have no good friends. There is a certain aloofness about them that is like a barrier of ice that separates them from their kind.

This trait of character manifests itself often very early in life. You see even small children who have already developed the lonewell trait. They come and go to school alone. They never have any intimate chum. They are never chosen for the school games, while other children are always the center of the gang and live in mobs.

Certainly not getting married does not predestine a woman to loneliness, and the tears we are shed only to be let alone.

Of course, there are solitary souls who dwell apart and who have nothing in common with their fellow creatures. These have no desire for companionship and ask only to be let alone.

Shut Themselves in Shells
The great majority of people who complain of loneliness have only themselves to blame and their loneliness is the result of selfishness and vanity. There are those who, for some unknown reason, shut themselves out from every one and seek their society. They never make advances in acquaintance, they don't meet you even halfway. They shut themselves up in their shells and expect you to work patiently and faithfully until you have pulled them out of them.

The annual retail value of U. S. meat products now is about 15 million dollars.

That sort of person is always lonely because not many of us are willing to take the trouble to cultivate such an unpromising prospect.

Another large class of people, who are always wailing and beating upon their breasts because they are lonely, are those who are not willing to pay the price of society. It takes time and money and effort to cultivate friends. To have people desire your companionship you have to make yourself pleasant and agreeable and entertaining. You have to sacrifice a lot of your tastes and opinions and soft-pedal a lot of your theories, and they will not do this.

They go to parties, but give none. They try to dominate every gathering they are in. They never learn to dance or play a good game of contract. They are eternally starting arguments on every subject. They talk about themselves and their affairs endlessly. And the result is naturally that they are left alone.

And, finally, people are lonely because they have no resources. They have never learned how to read or think. No one who is a good companion to himself or herself is ever lonely.

Dear Miss Dix: Should a girl tell the man she is to marry everything? Suppose, when in her teens, she stepped off the straight and narrow road to follow the path of excitement and cheap romance and what she considered thrills, but in a very short time realized that this wasn't what she wanted of life and traveled back to self-respect. Now she is engaged to a fine man, who tells her that he loves her because she is so pure and innocent. What shall she do?

GEM
Answer: As she had so many companions in sowing her wild oats, the man is sure to find out about it, so probably she had best beat others to it by telling him herself, but without going into details. Deal with glittering generalities and let it go at that. There is no more reason why a girl should tell a man everything that has happened in her past than there is why he should tell her about all his escapades. I think that post-mortems are always a mistake and that engaged couples do well not to pry into each other's lives. What concerns a man or woman is what the other is going to do, not what they have done.

DOROTHY DIX
Dear Miss Dix: Would you marry a man who always let the other fellow pay the check, when you went out with a group, although he is able to? He has never given me a present, although we have been engaged for some time. I don't care, except that it is a proof that he is not generous-natured. I have always been independent financially, and would be unhappy married to one who did not make me feel what my own life was mine to make the best of.

A WOMAN
Answer: I certainly wouldn't marry a lightweight. Singleness is about the worst fault a husband can have, and is hardest for a wife to endure. And it is inexcusable.

Lucky Strike maintains America's FINEST CIGARETTE LABORATORY

America's largest cigarette research laboratory is your guarantee that Luckies are a finer cigarette!

YOU SEE HERE the largest and most complete laboratory of its kind operated by any cigarette manufacturer in America.

For many years Lucky Strike scientists have delved into cigarette research on an extensive scale. Out of this has grown an elaborate system of quality control. Every step in the making of Luckies—from before the tobacco is bought until the finished cigarette reaches you—comes under the laboratory's watchful eye. Literally hundreds of precision tests are conducted daily to make certain that the Lucky Strike you smoke is a finer, milder, more enjoyable cigarette. As you read this, a constant stream of tobacco . . . samples from every tobacco-growing area . . . is flowing into the laboratory in Richmond, Virginia. These samples are scientifically analyzed, and reports of their quality go to the men who buy at auction for the makers of Lucky Strike.

Armed with this confidential, scientific information—and their own sound judgment—these men go after finer, lighter, milder tobacco. This fine tobacco—together with scientifically controlled manufacturing methods—is your assurance that there is no finer cigarette in the world today than Lucky Strike!

Testing tobacco. Samples from every tobacco-growing area are analyzed before and after purchase. These extensive scientific analyses, along with the expert judgment of Lucky Strike buyers, assure you that the tobacco in Luckies is fine!

So round, so firm, so fully packed. Typical of many special devices designed to maintain highest standards of cigarette quality, this mechanism helps avoid loose ends . . . makes doubly sure your Lucky is so round, so firm, so fully packed.

So free and easy on the draw. This meter draws air through the cigarette, measures the draw. Samples are tested to see if they are properly filled. Tests like this one are your guarantee that Luckies are truly free and easy on the draw.

Woman Given Life for Slaying Mother

LA Police Chief Resigns Amid Investigation

Greenville, Miss., June 29 — (AP)—Mrs. John Dickins, 43-year-old Mississippi socialite, was today sentenced to life in prison for the death of her aged, invalid mother and sent her to prison for life.

The jury found her guilty as charged of hacking Mrs. Ideola Long Thompson to death with a pair of hedge shears last Nov. 17, but disagreed on a punishment. This made life imprisonment mandatory under state law.

When Foreman Wilson Webb read the verdict, Mrs. Dickins was seated at the counsel table, flanked by her cotton broker husband, her brother, James Thompson, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Wood Thompson.

She appeared calm, save that her face was etched with lines of fatigue and strain. There were deep circles under her big eyes and deep lines in the middle of her forehead.

The verdict seemed to come as a shock to those in the courtroom, and a few had tears in their eyes. But Mrs. Dickins did not weep.

She was wearing a blue chambray frock which she had worn earlier in the trial, sport shoes and a trace of lipstick.

Other members of her family on hand for the verdict were Shields Hood and his son, Thompson, and Wood Thompson, another brother.

When the verdict was read, Dickins hid his left arm around his wife. He bowed his head and looked extremely pale. Mrs. Thompson on the left also put her arm around Mrs. Dickins' shoulder at this point.

Other members of the family then came up and stood around her protectively in a consoling manner.

Asked if they are going to continue fighting the case, Dickins said: "You're damned right we are."

Sheriff Hugh Foote, who handled the murder investigation, picked up Mrs. Dickins shortly after 11 a. m. and took her to the county jail.

Parents Blamed for Wildness of Children

Colonial Beach, Va., June 29 — (UP)—Mayor Norman F. Brewington said today that parents are partly to blame for the wild orgies of the children of the Potomac river resort.

He said that some parents don't seem to be interested in the Washington Times-Herald's reports of widespread vulgar, drunkenness and lawlessness among high school students from the Washington, D. C. area.

"Some of the parents seem to need a lecture as much as the kids," the mayor said. "That is what I feel is so alarming about this whole thing. It looks like some of the parents have no feeling of love or respect for their children at all."

The Times Herald reported, however, that as a result of its stories, many Washington parents drove down to this resort to bring their teenage sons and daughters home.

Bewington said complaints involving the teenagers have included nudity, rowdiness, rape, public drinking, "noisy all night parties" and "loose necking" in cottages, automobiles and on the beach.

The mayor began a crackdown on the teenagers yesterday. Six youths from Washington and Arlington, Va., were arrested on disorderly conduct charges and fined $10 each.

Bewington said that heretofore the 53 teenagers arrested were dismissed with reprimands. But from now on, he warned, those picked up for disorderly conduct will be fined.

"If that doesn't work," he said, "we'll throw the book at them."

Bewington said that most of the groups that rent cottages here for a few weeks each summer cause him no trouble whatsoever.

"The majority are good, clean, upstanding kids who come here for a vacation and conduct themselves as ladies and gentlemen," he said. "Some of them have tried to help me put a stop to these disorderly affairs. But the bad ones just won't listen to reason."

In recent weeks, one teenage girl was found completely nude and dead drunk after her automobile was in an accident. Another told police she was raped during an all-night party, but she was so drunk she couldn't identify her attacker.

CLIPPED ANGEL

Copyright, 1949, NEA SERVICE, INC.

The Story: Mike McTagg, a mining engineer with definite ideas about women mine operators, is working for beautiful, high-spirited Cory Parnell, daughter of a colorful old prospector to find out why the Dark Angel is producing low-grade ore. Mike's first step is to take secret samplings of the vein, unbeknownst to Uncle Jake Whinnaker, mill manager, and Archie Trask, the underground foreman. One of the lots is tampered with but the other lot shows a much higher valuation per ton. Mike tells Cory what he has found and says that Uncle Jake and Archie are the ones. Cory is unwilling to believe it—both have been with the mine for years. But Mike finds out that both have proposed to her and that she told Archie not to a fool and laughed outright at Uncle Jake. Riggs, the assayer, also is in on it, says Mike, because Riggs was hired by Uncle Jake.

"I'll fire Riggs—I know he's a crook—and tell Archie about these assay figures. Now that it's proved he ought to be able to find out what's happening," Cory finally decided.

I was so exasperated I could have dropped her down the main shaft of her own mine. I decided to make one more attempt.

"Cory, listen to me. Carefully. If you fire Riggs, and Riggs only, you'll tip off the gang and they'll be easier than ever. Maybe you'll get your way, but maybe not. Maybe some of it, or maybe none—you'll always be wondering which."

I paused to light another cigarette and let my blood pressure drop a few points. "All right, you say you refuse to fire everybody because somebody who's innocent might suffer. Very creditable. I bow to your humanitarian instincts. But—of you insist on being noble you can't fire Riggs. You can't tell Archie or Uncle Jake or anybody anything. You've got to pretend you don't know anything from nothing, and all the time hunt like the dickens for that missing high-grade. Get me?"

"You know something, Mike? You look really handsome when you get worked up."

"Nuts!" I shouted, and stamped out the cigarette I had lit.

"Will you hunt for it? For me?" I looked down at her. She was still sitting on the moss and bits of it were in her hair. Her shirt was mussed and her slacks were stained with mud from the mine down, and by rights she should have looked like two cents. She looked like the four million dollars she didn't have.

So I let her have it straight. "Yes, I'll hunt for you, I will. I never could figure out women. Next thing I knew she was crying.

After lunch I had a bull session with myself and eventually concluded that the stuff couldn't possibly be pinched from the mill bunkers.

There were too many men around, and even if they were all greased, sooner or later one of them would decide he could get more money from Cory than from the gang and the truth would be out.

That left the alternative: Somewhere there existed an entirely unsuspected entrance to the mine. But that brought up another angle, one I hadn't thought of before. You can't lug a sack of high-grade ore in a smelter and say, "How much, Ma?"

You have to sign a contract, stating location of mine and type of ore; you have to arrange with the railways for empty gondola cars, pick-ups and freight bills; there are a hundred and one things that have to be done, a lot of them right out in the open.

Therefore Cory's ore was going either to a regular, producing mine, where it was mixed with the mine's own ore or else it was going to what the smelter people thought was a producing mine, but what was actually a dummy outfit set up as a blind.

So I had two problems on my hands. First, to find a secret entrance to the mine, and second to find out where the ore was going. I decided to tackle the second one first.

I went back and asked Cory how many mineral claims there were in the valley.

"Thousands," she said. People have been prospecting around here for hundreds of years.

"Not counting the abandoned ones, how many are being worked right now, within, say 20 miles of here?"

She thought a moment. "Maybe 40 or 50."

I tried another tack. "How many have shipped ore to the smelter?"

She thought again. "About a dozen that I know of."

"Good. Tell me how to get to them."

Cory gave explicit directions on how to reach each of the mines that were shipping ore to the smelter. Altogether there were 13, which sounded ominous to start with. Some of them could be crossed off to begin with and others would take no more than a couple of minutes to check off once I'd seen them. Half a dozen stops ought to do the job.

I set out in her blue convertible half an hour later, not looking forward particularly to the job, but determined to get it done. And if you address more than one question they think you're a potential claim-jumper and reach for the shotgun.

However, it had to be done. (To Be Continued)

British Press Criticized for Partisanship

London, June 29 — (AP)—A royal commission criticized the British press today for partisanship, distortion of news and failure to give a clear picture of world affairs.

The commission, set up by a general council of the press to foster—but not force—integrity and responsibility to the public.

At the same time, the report issued after two years' study—declared "it is generally agreed that the British press is inferior to none in the world. It is free from corruption x x x"

The 14 men and three women of the royal commission on the press examined newsmen and publishers as expert witnesses during its investigation and found:

"There is nothing approaching monopoly in the press as a whole x x x"

Mathias Retains National Decathlon Title

Tulare, Calif., June 30 — (P)—Tulare's Robert Bruce Mathias is still the nation's finest decathlon performer and Tulare remains the happiest city of 12,000 in the country.

"Our Bob," which is no idle phrase in this town, captured the national A.A.U. decathlon crown for the second straight year and kept untarnished the brighter glory he won as the Olympic games champion last summer at London.

The tall, good looking 18-year-old athlete rolled up 7,556 points to outdistance a field of 18 rivals gathered from all parts of the nation.

It was the highest score registered since Colorado's Glenn Morris set the American record of 7,880 points and the world record of 7,900 points in 1936.

It also eclipsed in this, the fourth time, Bob ever tried the strenuous 10-event program, his mark of 7,224 in the nationals last year and his 7,193 in the Olympics.

The scores went like this:

Bob Mathias, Tulare, 7,556; Irving Mondschien, New York, 7,004; Bill Albans, North Carolina Univ., 6,715; Roger Terwilliger, Illinois A.C., 6,581; Floyd Simmons, Charlotte, N.C., 6,483; Ken Beck, San Diego, 6,319; Arthur Kurtz, Culver, Ind., 6,175; Dean Pryor, Fredonia, Kan., 6,161; Jim Mitchell, Fresno, Calif., 6,151; Barry Reed, Holy Cross, 6,128; Bill Mitchell, Georgetown University, 6,083; Dale Keyser, Stockton, Calif., 6,031; Bill Fleming, South Bend, Ind., 5,950; Wilson, Pasadena, 5,920; Harley Tinkham, Los Angeles, 5,767; Bob Mathias, Boston, 5,691; Robert E. Lee, Chula Vista, Calif., 4,885; Tony Persha, Marquette Univ., 3,371.

News agencies do we expect a significant trend towards further concentration of ownership x x x"

"The gap between the best of the quality papers and the general run of the popular press is too wide, and the number of papers of an intermediate type is too small. The press does not do all it might to encourage its public to accept or demand material of higher quality."

"Free enterprise is a prerequisite of a free press. The commission rejected proposals for State control or subsidies for newly established papers."

A public corporation to print newspapers under contract. Limitation of advertising revenue.

The commission said the "direct influence of advertisers on the policy of newspapers is negligible."

Palmer Continues to Burn Up Iowa Course

Ames, Iowa, June 30 — (AP) — The golf faithful in this little college town is shocked at what grim-faced Arnold Palmer is doing to their course.

Palmer, a 19-year-old Latrobe, Pa., lad representing Wake Forest college in the national collegiate golf tournament, posted 70-71-141 for medalist honors in the collegiate scramble for a national crown, a new 36 hole competitive record for the course.

Yesterday he whipped Marion Pfluger of the University of Texas 4 and 3 in first round match play. Again he was under par playing out the round for a 69.

First business today for the southern conference champion was an engagement with Harold Spears, Georgia's southeast conference king. Spears eliminated Bob Keller of Miami (Fla) university 1 up yesterday.

The Palmer-Spears contest was the first of 24 second and third round matches scheduled today. That will trim the field to eight.

Pine Bluff Is Creeping Up Cotton Leader

By The Associated Press

Pine Bluff's "three-man team" came through again Wednesday night for an 8-4 victory that evened up the second-place Cardinals' crucial series with front-running Greenway.

The Dodgers now lead the Cotton States league by only two games.

Ben (Rosie) Cantrell, the former Southern association bad boy who has never hit under 300, drove in five of Pine Bluff's runs with a double and a triple.

Southpaw Tommy Graham gave up 12 hits but scattered them well enough to post his 11th victory against two defeats. However, he had to have help in the ninth from 13game winner Eddie Albrecht.

Helena's Wally Buerger socked two home runs, one with the bases loaded, but that wasn't enough as the Seaporters went down, 12-8, before the El Dorado Oilers. Orthur Purdue homered for the winners.

A squeeze play in the ninth inning gave Natchez a 4-3 edge over Greenville's Bucks. Jack Custer tripled and slid home safely on a bunt by Jack Chandler.

Hot Springs squared its series at Clarksdale with an 8-4 triumph. Lefty Dan Carver of the Bathers went the route for the victory. He allowed only six base hits but four of them were for extra bases, one a homer.

Thursday night's games:
Pine Bluff at Greenwood.
Hot Springs at Clarksdale.
Helena at El Dorado.
Greenville at Natchez.

Same Old Joe Is Showing His Worth

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

The same old Joe DiMaggio. Three home runs in two days, six runs batted in and a .500 batting average. That's the stuff that made a $90,000 salary.

The mourners who shed a tear for the poor New York Yankees and their fat paychecks for a crippled star, can toss the crying towel in the wet wash. The Yanks are getting their money's worth from Joe D.

DiMaggio's ailing heel may slice a few yards off his private acre in the outfield, but he's still Mr. Big with the bat. Ten weeks of fretting in street clothes while his mates ed the American league didn't dull his batting eye — at least not in Boston.

Big Joe electrified a giant-sized Tuesday night crowd with a homer and single in his first league appearance this year.

Yesterday he hammered two homers, one with two men on base, drove in four runs and personally accounted for the Yanks' 9-7 edge over the Red Sox.

This was the big series for the Sox. Rolling fast at home they had climbed to within five games of the Yanks. A series sweep and they would have been up there knocking on the door. Instead they trail the Yanks by seven games and are back in the second division. Joe D. is the man responsible.

DiMaggio boosted the Yanks back in the game after Boston clubbed wild in the seventh. DiMaggio hit in the fourth run, inning. Joe's homer with two men on off Ellis Kinder left the Sox with a 7-4 lead in the fifth.

After Gene Woodling's double with the bases loaded tied the score in the seventh, DiMaggio hit his game-winning blow off loser Earl Johnson with the bases empty in the eighth.

Cleveland averted disaster with a six-run rally in the last of the ninth inning to down Detroit 8-7 in a night game after they were shut out 4-0 by Hal Newhouse in the twilight opener of a doubleheader.

Bobby Feller was knocked out in a seven run fifth inning. The Tribe

Highway Death Toll Discussed at Meeting

Little Rock, June 30 — (AP) — Plans for education and enforcement in an effort to reduce the highway death toll in Arkansas were discussed at a meeting called by Governor McMath yesterday.

Don Hill field representative of the National Safety Council, urged a full time office to direct the program. He estimated cost at between $25,000 and $40,000 yearly.

An "outstanding weakness" at present is an insufficient number of traffic patrolmen in the state police department, Hill said.

Carl Schieb broke a six-game losing streak with a 7-4 edge for Philadelphia over Washington. The result kept the second place A's, 4 1-2 games behind the Yanks.

Ned Garver edged Walt Pierce in a tight duel as the St. Louis Browns knocked off the Chicago White Sox, 1-0. Dick Kokos' eighth-inning single broke the scoreless tie.

Brooklyn and St. Louis kept in step in the hot National league chase as the Dodgers protected their one-game margin by defeating the Phillies, 5-1. The Cards clung to their heels by bouncing Chicago 7-4.

Ralph Branca let down the Phils with five hits to hit the 10-win mark, first to do the trick in the National. Curt Simmons gave up all five Dodger scores.

Ralph Kiner had a big day for Pittsburgh with a double and a bases loaded home run in their 7-3 romp over Cincinnati. It was Kiner's second grand slam clout of the year, both against the Reds, and the fourth of his big league career.

Larry Jensen elbowed the New York Giants past Boston 9-1 with the help of sloppy infield play by the Braves.

and Ernest Brookerson were dismissed from the department after the fatal shooting of Tom Williams, son, 27. Long is charged with murder in the death. Since then another officer has resigned.

A small boy came up with a brilliant defense of his low marks on the report card: "I was the highest of all who failed."

New York, June 29—There are two Communist trials now in progress, the federal building down at Foley square which is named for the old Tammany saloonkeeper who used to keep store and peddle ball-bonds and dump ballot-boxes and one thing and another across from the old criminal courts and the tombs, which now are gone. The neighborhood changes and yet it doesn't. There are many new public buildings but they are all soiled as public buildings must be, and so are the old ones.

Discover Man Wrote Note About Dog

New Britain, Conn., June 30 (UP)—The "healed child" who left the "miraculous dog" note in a local dog pound today to be a 20-year-old factory worker named John Burns.

Dog catcher Thomas J. Rouskie said he had discovered it was Burns who wrote the note saying "I am a young boy and my mommie says I can't feed my dog because my daddy is out of work and he can't afford to feed it."

Rouskie said Burns admitted writing the note because he decided the five-year-old mongrel was eating too much meat. Burns had only owned the dog a week.

The hundreds of checks, donations and offers to help the "heartbroken child" will be returned to the senders, the dog catcher said.

"I'm sorry I caused any trouble," Burns was quoted as saying. "I just don't want to get it a good home."

There were two flops for old women, one of them run by some female relative of the late Sanford Whitely, who would be delighted to say that they were aged, broken down prostitutes. But they were just homeless old women who worked washing dishes in beaneries or scrubbing floors in tall buildings. Most of them were Mencken says prostitutes do not broken-English foreigners. H. L. wind up miserable hags picking crusts or dragging out their days in institutions. He says they have various endings, on the average as good as those of virtuous ladies. He might know.

I do not recall what Jeff Davis was inspecting these wretched flops for. I don't think he would have known an emphysema from scabies. He just liked to inspecting, that's all, and passing out cheery words of philosophy.

"Good evening, girls," he would chirp as we walked through the dim halls of the old ladies' flops. "Don't be disturbed. It's just old Jeff Davis, the king of the hoboes, inspecting for the department of health. And you know all up."

Jeff used to mope and mull over his loved ones at home in Cincinnati and Dan O'Rourke used to ask him why he didn't go on home to them. Then Dan and Jeff would say he didn't have the railroad fare, which in those simple days was considered a hell of a joke by the bums in the back room.

Mrs. Diamond Dan O'Rourke was a Tammany precinct captain then and a very nice lady highly respected by all the bums. She will live long in the anthem of Tammany hall. At Smith's campaign headquarters she was the M. M. O'Rourke who will ever trip the light fantastic on the sidewalks of New York. This I know because during the 1924 convention at the garden I went over to a little Vaudeville house in Brooklyn and dug up blind Charlie Lawlor, the composer of "The Sidewalks," then doing a little act with his two daughters, and he told me how he got drunk that night at Charles F. Murphy's old Anawanda club and composed the lyric on the way home as his wife banged hard on the sidewalks of New York.

Vols Take First Game of Crucial Series With Barons

By The Associated Press
Nashville's Vols took the first game, 5 to 4, Wednesday night in their crucial series with the league-leading Birmingham Barons to determine who will play host in the Southern association all-star game.

The Vols are now within a half-game of the Barons. The club that holds the top spot on the fourth of July will meet the "all-stars" of the seven other clubs in the loop.

The game, which was scheduled for Wednesday night, was postponed because of rain. The game was rescheduled for Thursday night.

Bobo Holloman gave up 11 hits in chalking up his tenth triumph against the Barons.

Jim Goodwin set the Pels down on six hits in the game at Memphis.

Thursday night's games: Atlanta at Chattanooga; New Orleans at Memphis; Birmingham at Nashville; Mobile at Little Rock.

Anderson, Hale, White Bat Hope to 9-8 Victory

By George Dobson
Gary Anderson got his first hit in many a moon last night, but it sent Bill McClelland scurrying across the platter with the winning run in the bottom of the 10th inning to give the Legion a 9-8 victory over the Waldo Giants. Jack McClelland who came on to pitch in the fifth inning received credit for the win.

The battle saw both clubs get a total of 29 hits, with Frank Hale rapping five for five to lead the hitters. Bob White also contributed to the hitting with three hits in five trips. Two were round-trippers over the right field wall, and both came with the sacks empty.

Hope got off to a good start in the first when White got homer number one. Hale singled into left. Buddy White got on when the shortstop tried to get Hale at second and overthrew the bag with both runners moving to second and third. Ceburn Reyenga brought them both home with a single through the box into center to put the locals out front 3-0 in the first inning.

Waldo got all three tallies back off Denzil Ross in the second when three straight singles coupled with a Legion error produced the runs. Score: Hope 3, Waldo 3.

In the bottom of the second, Hope continued to hit with Bill McClelland opening with a single, moved to third on Ross's single, and both scored when Hale doubled into short left field. Score: Hope 5, Waldo 3.

The Giants got one in the top of the third on a walk, single and fielders' choice to pull within one run of the locals. In the top of the fourth, if the Legion had a new game when the locals had an error, the score would have been 5-4.

Bill Talbot continued to hold the Legion in the fifth, and in the top of the fifth, Fuller walked, and moved to second on a bunt, and scored when Bill Horn singled. Burleson singled, with Horn stopping at second. After that, Jack McClelland came on to pitch. Talbot struck out, and an attempt to steal third, Seacrest threw wild into left field with Horn scoring and Burleson moving to second. Jack struck out Riddling, but Seacrest let the ball get away from him, then threw a first base letting Burleson come in to score. Lindsey ended the threat by grounding out second to first. Score: Waldo 4, Hope 5.

Neither team was able to score in the sixth, but the locals came back in the seventh when Bob White got his second homer. Hale singled into left field. Buddy White walked, then Smith forced Hale at third. Reyenga singled to send White in to score, and Seacrest hit into a double play to end the threat. Score: Waldo 4, Hope 7.

Jack McClelland continued to hold Waldo scoreless, but an 8th inning threat almost put the right-hander in hot water, as he loaded the bases with two out, then made Ab Fuller fly out to deep center field.

In the bottom of the 8th, Jack McClelland singled, but was forced when Anderson hit to the short stop. Anderson stole second, and scored when Bob White singled into right field scoring Anderson with the 6th Hope run. White stole second and tried to score, when Hale collected his 5th hit of the game, but was thrown out at the plate. Score: Hope 8, Waldo 4.

As the teams went into the 9th the capacity crowd at Fair park began to talk. Jack got Waldo out in order in the top of the 9th. In the bottom of the ninth, Chas. Townsend got a blop single in the infield, Talbot let the ball drop, behind him, but the hit fell to no good when Reyenga and Delwin Ross were easy outs.

In the top of the 10th, McClelland walked Talbot to open the inning, but his knuckle ball made the next three batters pop to the infield. In the bottom of the 10th, Bill McClelland opened with a single to center, got McClelland out on a double play, counting on a bunt to get the winning run on second, and having failed to hit in the last 12 trips lined one into right field that scattered deep as it hit the line and rolled deep to the corner good for a double and the winning run.

The locals pounded out 18 hits in the on-slaught while Waldo was getting 11 off Denzil Ross and J. McClelland.

Tomorrow night at Fair park the Legion team will take on Mineral Springs in what should prove to be interesting as the loser of "The Sidewalks," then doing a little act with his two daughters, and he told me how he got drunk that night at Charles F. Murphy's old Anawanda club and composed the lyric on the way home as his wife banged hard on the sidewalks of New York.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh O. Fullerton, Jr.

New York, June 30—(P)—Since most of the votes for the 1949 major league all-star teams have been counted, let's take a look at the players who started last year.

Counting out pitchers, about half of them will be missing from this year's lineup. To refresh your memory, National League starters were Johnny Mize, Red Schoendienst, Andy Patto, Pee Wee Reese, Walker Cooper, Stan Musial, Enos Slaughter and Richie Ashburn. The American League, beset by injuries to Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams and George Kell in 1948, started George McQuinn, Joe Gordon, Ken Keltner, Lou Boudreau, Buddy Rosar, Tommy Henrich, Pat Mullin and Hoot Evers.

Of these, Mize, despite his poor hitting, Reese, Musial and Henrich are out front again; so are Williams, the top vote-getter, and Kell. Schoendienst is giving Jackie Robinson an argument; of these, Mize is close to Cass Michaels. Slaughter is sure to make the squad and so is Boudreau because he'll manage the American leaguers. Except for McQuinn, who dropped out of baseball, the others are playing just-so ball this year, while guys like Eddie Kazak, Andy Seminick, Eddie Robinson, Michaels and Eddie Joost have come to the front.

Statistical Note
A checkup by Charley Segar, National league publicist, shows that in the past 34 years, 17 teams that were leading the league on July 4 won the pennant and 10 that were second at mid-season moved up to win. Apparently the only thing that old tradition proves is that the team in first place on July 4 is hot.

Sports Before Your Eyes
You can't hear much about it from West Point, but you can look at it. The belief that chiggers or red bugs don't bite at night is fallacious.

Liquor Permits
Little Rock, June 30—(P)—The state revenue department has issued 19 new retail liquor sales permits, effective tomorrow. The 19 were authorized from between 50 and 70 applications.

A MESSAGE TO THE PEOPLE OF HOPE AND HEMPSTEAD COUNTY

DO YOU KNOW THAT:

Olie's Dairy is under the strict supervision of State and Local HEALTH Authorities, and that the milk meets all the requirements?

Do you know that Olie's Dairy has a Payroll of Approximately $25,000 per year and another $1,000 per month overhead that is spent in Hope?

Did you know that Olie's Dairy pays the farmers of this community approximately $100,000 each year for milk, and this money is spent in Hope?

WILL OTHER DAIRIES....

BUILD OR OPERATE A PLANT IN HOPE, OR WILL THEY JUST OPERATE A TRUCK FROM OUT OF TOWN?

WILL THEY BUY MILK FROM THE MILK PRODUCERS OF HEMPSTEAD COUNTY?

WHAT WILL THEY OFFER IN RETURN FOR YOUR PATRONAGE?

We the Milk producers of Hempstead County feel that since Olie's Dairy is a Home owned and operated dairy that they should be given first consideration over any other dairy coming to Hope.

We feel that it will be to the best interest of the farmers in Hempstead County, for the people of Hope and Hempstead County to support Olie's Dairy 100%. Be sure and think about this before you make any changes.

Home Fields May Play at Big Part
By JOE RECHLER
New York, June 30 —(AP)—The National league will face the classic 11th all-star game in the 16th all-star game at Brooklyn on July 12 with one psychological edge in its favor. All four of its victories have come on home fields.

Lined by 11 trimmings since the classic originated in 1933 (there was none in 1945) National league President Ford Frick is determined to do everything he can to make this a winning year for his squad.

The fans have got to win this game, and it is up to you to get our greatest star, Lou Gehrig, into action. Frick is reported to have strong Manager Billy Southworth, who will lead the National League all-stars.

The past the pilots felt they had a mandate from the fans to follow the vote tabulations. However, Frick is reported to have told Southworth to use his strong lineup, after the third inning, regardless of the poll.

The fans select only 16 of the 50 players named on the two sides. Southworth and Cleveland's Lou Boudreau, who will manage the American league team, must pick these selections for the first three innings. They will pick their own pitchers, probably eight or nine on each side.

The fans' vote ended last night, but at least three starters for each team remained in doubt. The American league team will be made public July 5, and the National all-star combination will be announced two days later.

Net receipts from the game will go to the baseball players' pension fund. On orders from Commissioner A. B. Chandler, no player will be excused unless he is prevented from appearing because of an injury or illness.

For years it has been the practice of several stars to bow out of the game. Last year Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians, and Marty Pappas of the St. Louis Cardinals begged off.

The site will be Ebbets field, which was slated to have had the 1942 game. That one, however, was switched to the more spacious Polo grounds in New York to accommodate a larger crowd.

The park's capacity is around 35,000 seats. The game is scheduled to start at 12:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time.

The last time the National league won was in 1944 in Pittsburgh. Incidentally, Southworth managed the winners. He also had a loss in '43. The American league won the last three, including last year's 5-2 triumph in St. Louis.

From the looks of things, each league will present at least three

Trade Act to Die Tonight for Few Weeks
By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, June 30 —(AP)—The reciprocal trade agreements act dies tonight — at least for a while — because congress failed to get around to renewing it.

This act is a cornerstone in our foreign policy. It was first passed in 1934 under the guidance of President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull to build up better trade with other countries.

It has been renewed repeatedly since then by congress, the last time in 1948 when it was made clear the act would die June 30, 1949 unless congress acted to continue it.

Months ago President Truman told congress the deadline was approaching and the act should be renewed. The senate has approved it. But the house dawdled.

Maybe in a month or so the senate will finally do something about it. In the end, congress is expected to continue the act for at least another year, maybe another three years.

All this is a little embarrassing for this country and a group of trade experts. They are now in France with the representatives of 33 other countries, all trying to work out trade agreements.

They have agreed on a number of deals—work on them goes back two years — and Mr. Truman has been able to start them, moving by approving them.

The trade agreements act gave him this power to approve. But Mr. Truman—in this case, the U. S.—can't okay any further deals until the act is once more renewed by congress, whenever that is.

So the senate's tardiness leaves in France a little up in the air. Yet, these agreements are important, excluding pitchers, who have seen no previous all-star action. The National will show Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson, St. Louis' Eddie Semick for the first time. The American will counter with Washington's Eddie Robinson, Chicago's Cass Michaels and New York's Bobby Brown.
